

CONNECT WITH A CLASSIC: READING MOBY-DICK

As part of the Johnson County Library's advertising campaign featuring fictional delivery trucks of classic characters, the Library is featuring a Moby-Dick literary event and book discussion.

To launch our voyage, the Library is honored to host Dr. Elizabeth Schultz, internationally renown Melville scholar. Dr. Schultz will discuss why Moby-Dick is the great American novel and remains vitally relevant over 150 years after its publication in 1851.

Why Moby-Dick is Still the Great American Novel

Presenter: Dr. Elizabeth Schultz

Sunday, Jan. 3, 2010

2 p.m. at the Central Resource Library

Online Blogging & How to Participate in the Moby-Dick Online Book Discussion

Sunday, Jan. 3, 2010

3:30 p.m. at the Central Resource Library (following Dr. Schutz's presentation)

Ready Moby-Dick Online Book Discussion

Sunday, Jan. 3 – March 31, 2010

Online at: <http://www.jocolibrary.org/readingmobydick>

We'll read and discuss Melville's timeless classic throughout January, February and March. It's all online so you can read, post, and comment as your schedule permits. Readers everywhere are welcome. To join the online discussion, please send your name and e-mail address to Erica Reynolds at reynoldse@jocolibrary.org, and you'll receive an invite to join the Reading Moby-Dick blog.

"I try all things, I achieve what I can." ~ Herman Melville in Moby-Dick

<http://www.jocolibrary.org/readingmobydick>

Twitter hashtag: #readmobydick

